Gary-

Just thought of two more things:

- Can you confirm the date at which inspections go to once per year?
- Can you confirm if it will be EPA, the PRPs and/or other entities that will perform the inspections, be they regular semi-annual or annual inspections or special inspections following storm events, etc.?

Scott

Thank you for the clarification, Gary!

Scott

Scott – there has been no change in the required inspections - its currently twice per year. There were other visual inspections following storms, etc., done last year that were in response to EPA requests following some event like the storms last year. The EPA will continue to consider the site conditions, and any requests from the community, in performing additional inspections.

Subject: Please confirm frequency of SJRWP cap inspections

Hello Gary and Valmichael-

Can you please confirm the frequency of the SJRWP cap monitoring? I have some members of the community inquiring.

In the TCRA report, the monitoring frequency was described as:

Fencing, signage, and the armored cap will be inspected quarterly for the first two years, semi-annually from years 3 to 5, and annually after year 6. A cap inspection will be performed after the first 25-year flow event and after every 100-year flow event. Inspections will include visual observations, manual probing surveys, and bathymetric surveys.

I believe this may have changed...

I also believe that it has been agreed that should the community ask for an inspection due to a legitimate concern, such as the recent flood events or other incident, that the EPA will require the PRPs to make an inspection. Is that correct?

Finally, can you tell me which year we are now in?

Thanks-
Scott
